Your inquiry concerning the use of Conflict Minerals (Dodd-Frank-Act) by Endress+Hauser

Dear Customer,

In 2012, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), as directed by Section 1502 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd-Frank-Act) finalized requirements for SEC reporting companies to disclose their use of Conflict Minerals originating from the Democratic Republic of Congo (DRC) or adjoining countries.

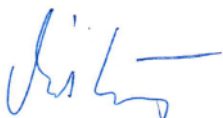

While Endress+Hauser is not required to report to the SEC, we are committed to helping our customers comply with their reporting requirements.

We analyze our supply chain to ensure appropriate due diligence is exercised by our suppliers to determine the origin and custody of conflict minerals. We rely on the information provided by our suppliers regarding their sourcing of these materials. We expect that products and components we receive from our suppliers are not deemed to be conflict minerals originating from the DRC or are Conflict Free by the EICC standards Endress+Hauser will continuously evaluate and assess its supply chain accordingly.

Now, our investigation has helped us prepare the conflict minerals reporting template (CRMT) for 3TG and extended mineral reporting template (ERMT) for cobalt and mica provided by the Responsible Minerals Initiative (RMI). The Endress+Hauser RMI reporting templates will be updated annually. The CMRT/ERMT, as updated annually, and any additional information related thereto can be obtained upon request from your local Endress+Hauser Sales Office (see www.endress.com for contact information).

With kind regards,

Endress+Hauser Group Services AG
